A TALK WITH THE CANDIDATES.

Interview with Judge Hawkins and Col. Edwards.

Soon after their arrival yesterday a CHRONICLE reporter called upon Judge Hawkins and Col. R. M. Edwards at their respective hotels, in order to gather information respecting their canvass for the governorship, both past and prospective, and to learn something of the views, prospects, etc., of each. The Judge had only got fairly seated in the neat rooms of the Hattie House upon the intrusion of the reporter, and although somewhat wearied from his journey, he seems jubilant over his prospects and stretches out his hand with good old-fashioned courtesy to all callers. The Judge is a man of about 55 years of age, above the average weight, of easy, cordial yet dignified presence. In common speech he is what would be called a plain man without any false pretensions, or any desire to pander to anybody's wishes for the sake of popularity. He impresses one with the idea of unflinching honesty and determined devotion to principle.

"Have a cigar," he said, handing down a case from the mantle.

Reporter—"Thanks, Judge, I never smoke. I want to inquire for the CHRONICLE about the canvass and what has been done."

Judge Hawkins—"Well, I have been making a canvass of some of the western counties; have made speeches at Purdy, Savannah, Waynesborough, Clifton, Decaturville and Lexington and other places."

Rep—"What is the prospect for republican votes as compared with past years?"

Judge Hawkins—"Oh, very much improved. Aside from the chances of division among the democrats, I think the chances of republican success are extremely good, decidedly better than for some time, but we can not predict the result."

Rep—"What are your plans after filling the appointments for East Tennessee?"

Judge H—"Well, after speaking at Jacksboro, Huntsville, Sevierville, Maryville and the other places that Col. Gibson has arranged for, I think I shall go back to West Tennessee, as I believe more good can be done there. The people of East Tennessee are all right anyhow, but in West Tennessee I am informed there are many voters who never heard a republican speech, and I want to scatter seeds of political truth, where they are most needed."

After some conversation about the roads, manner of conveyance, etc., between the different places to be visited, the CHRONICLE youth took his leave and steered for the Lamar House, where Col. R. M. Edwards, the green-back candidate, is stopping. The colonel was just enjoying his after-dinner cigar. At such times, if ever, men are supposed to be good-natured and communicative. Not so, however, with the gallant Colonel. Whether it was from the gloomy inclemency of the weather, the character of his visitor, or from his own natural glumness, the man of unlimited greenbacks (in his mind) appeared quite crusty when the CHRONICLE's card was sent in. "I don't believe in this interviewing business," he said in response to our modest interrogatories.

"I shall express my views at the opera-house to-night. If you wish anything further I will furnish you my Brownsville speech for publication."

Rep—"Excuse us. How do you consider your chances in the coming contest?"

"I consider them good. Better than those of any other candidate. I expect nothing, however, from East Tennessee."

The Colonel is especially hard on railroads and uses his strongest language in condemning their management. In regard to the democratic convention, he expressed his conviction that a majority of the delegates would be state credit men, and intimated that Gen. Campbell would probably be the nominee, although a possible turn of the machine might put Marks in.

Col. Edwards is a man of perhaps sixty, tall, slim, and wiry; his gray hair clipped close to his head and a general energetic, revengeful air. He chews the stump of his cigar as if he had a bondholder between his teeth, or a railroad magnate, and wished to crush every bit of life out of them.

Judge Hawkins Serenaded. Yesterday afternoon the colored brass band, Tom Prince leader, tendered a serenade to Judge Alvin Hawkins, republican candidate for governor, at his hotel, the Hattie House. Judge Hawkins appeared, in response, and acknowledged the serenade in a few appropriate and happily chosen remarks.

Tragedy in Hancock. The Tazewell correspondent of the Morristown Gazette writes as follows: The eldest son of Hugh Parkey, of Hancock county, was killed this week by a Mr. Eades. Young Parkey, says report, was intoxicated, and had been outting at Eades' children with a whip. Sharp words followed, yet the parties were reconciled. In a little while Parkey cut a negro, in the employ of Eades, with his whip. The latter defended the negro boy, which stirred up more bad blood. Eades "made at" Parkey when the latter thrust his hand in his pocket as if to draw a weapon. Eades seized an axe and knocked him in the head. He dropped like a heap. The attending physician said Parkey would have died instantly but for the whiskey he had drank. He lived 18 hours or more. Eades walked hurriedly to his stable, saddled his horse, spoke to his wife, and left for other parts. Eades and Parkey were cousins and good friends. So much for Whiskey!!

A DOUBLY FATAL FIGHT.

B. F. Roach and John Bibee Each Meet With Instant Death.

In a Fight With Pistols at Jacksboro Tuesday Night.

A friend writing us from Jacksboro, Campbell county, says: "A difficulty occurred here Tuesday night between B. F. Roach and John W. Bibee, in which both were killed dead instantly. The parties had a difficulty and first fight some days ago, but were parted. Tuesday night they met, as some think, by appointment, and fought with pistols. Bibee was shot through the neck, and Roach through the breast. Bibee was a young man, Roach was married, and leaves a family."

John Bibee was well known to many Knoxvilleans, having been for some time a student at the university. He is of a good family, his father being a prominent citizen of Jacksboro. At school John was highly esteemed, and conducted himself in such a manner as to make many warm friends, not only among the students, but other young people of the city, who will hear of his tragic end with feelings of profound sadness. Of the other man we know nothing.

It was truly a sad and lamentable tragedy. Both evidently went at it meaning business, and their efforts were attended with remarkably fatal results. We have heard from another source that the difficulty first grew out of some dispute on the question of the approaching election for sheriff in Campbell county, over which there has been such a muddle for some weeks past.

PERRY DAVIS PAIN-KILLER is an excellent regulator of the stomach and bowels, and should always be kept on hand, especially at this season of the year, when so many suffer from bowel complaints. There is nothing so quick to relieve in attacks of cholera. Sold at only 25 cents a bottle by druggists generally.

Chattanooga's Bluster and Misrepresentations. The Chattanooga Times, in a labored effort to draw what it terms "a comparison" between Knoxville and Chattanooga, with regard to the population and increase of the two places, as shown by the census returns, indulges in the usual Chattanooga brag and bluster, with a liberal spicing of prevarication of the truth. The Times scribbler is an ex-Knoxvillian, not long from here, and no one knows better than he the situation and location of our city, but he seems to have thoroughly graduated in the art of misrepresentation and bluster which is second nature to a Chattanooga, notwithstanding his brief residence in that place.

He writes us down as including two county districts with four villages in a radius of three miles in the computation of our population, which foots up 32,828. This he knows to be a perversion of the facts. Now, unlike Chattanooga, our corporate limits do not take in all the city by a good deal. It is well known to the Times scribbler that Mechanicsville, West End and other places, generally recognized as suburbs, although outside the corporate limits, are really included in Knoxville proper, and the imaginary line is the only separation. Hence they are rightfully included in our calculation of population. They are in no sense separate suburban villages, as the Times represents, nor are the two county districts considered in our estimate.

Thus, instead of 17 per cent. increase over our population of 1870, which was 8,682, as the Times figures it, Knoxville's increase has been a fraction over 60 per cent. Now, we are free to admit that Chattanooga's increase in the same length of time, from 6,093 inhabitants to 12,938 now, shows a much larger per cent. We will even admit that, continuing at the same ratio, she will, in all probability, eclipse us in another decade, for it is not our province or purpose to misrepresent and traduce the place, as has always been the conduct of Chattanooga journalists, towards Knoxville.

In his desperate straits to swell Chattanooga's figures above Knoxville, the Chattanooga scribbler goes two miles in the country, according to his own statement, and tacks on the village of Summertown, to make the population appear to foot up 14,488. That's entirely too thin, however.

Physicians all admit that Quinine only effects a temporary suspension of the attacks of Fever and Ague, preceded unless by a reliable anti-bilious medicine.

The testimony of thousands establishes beyond a doubt, that Dr. Tuttle's Liver Pills, followed by Quinine, is a permanent cure for Chills and Fever and all Bilious diseases.

Third Ward Garfield and Arthur Club. A coming republican meeting was held last night in the Third ward, and a Garfield and Arthur club was organized, with Andrew Kidd president; Andrew Sharp secretary; J. W. Hutson assistant secretary. Speeches were made by E. B. Shields, J. W. Hutson and others. The meeting was an enthusiastic and harmonious one. Every third ward voter present joined the club, and they will come up in a solid phalanx to assist in the election of Gossett and Swan two weeks from to-morrow.

PUBLIC SPEAKING.

By Judge Hawkins, Republican Candidate for Governor.

Judge Alvin Hawkins, the Republican candidate for governor of the state of Tennessee, will address the citizens of East Tennessee on the issues of the state campaign at the following times and places:

Mr. Luther Howell, of the Crouch band, came over from Montvale Springs, yesterday, spent a few hours and returned in the afternoon. He reports a very pleasant party there.

A prominent merchant of Holly Springs, Miss., writes under date of Nov. 19, 1877: "Tuttle's Pills are doing mighty wonders in this state, and are becoming more popular every day. Their sale exceeds that of every other pill combined. They are peculiarly adapted to malarial diseases, and all our physicians prescribe them in their practice." I. H. ATHEY.

Base Ball. There will be a match game of base ball between the Condons and a strong picked nine on the college hill grounds this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

As yet, the Ogdens have received no challenge from the Reds, of Chattanooga, but they are looking for it every day. It is possible that the game may be put off until some time in August.

It is NOT NECESSARY to keep on taking this medicine continually, using a syringe, or dosing day and night for months at a time; the bowels are restored to regularity, the digestion strengthened, the blood purified, the bad breath made sweet by a short systematic use of Simmons' Liver Regulator, it leaves the system in a healthy condition after its use, which saves the patient from continual dosing.

"I was cured by Simmons' Liver Regulator, having applied for the medicine while in a most wretched condition some two months ago, and now am so changed a man that I am a subject for congratulation by my family."

"EAC MULLIN, "37th and Lancaster Ave., Phila."

A Down-to-Earth chant. Having passed several sleepless nights, disturbed by the agonies and cries of a suffering child, and becoming convinced that Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup was just the article needed, I ordered a supply for the child. On reaching home and seeing my wife with what she had done, she refused to have it administered to the child, as she was strongly in favor of homeopathy. That night the child passed in suffering, and the parents without sleep. Returning home the day following, the father found the baby still worse; and, while contemplating another sleepless night, the mother stepped from the room to attend to some domestic duties, and left the father with the child. During her absence he administered a portion of the Soothing Syrup to the baby, and said "let it go." That night all hands slept well, and the little fellow awoke in the morning bright and happy. The mother was delighted with the sudden and wonderful change, and, although at first offended at the deception practiced upon her, has continued to use the Syrup, and suffering, crying babies and restless nights have disappeared. A single trial of the Syrup never fails to relieve the baby, and overcome the prejudices of the mother. Sold by all druggists, 25 cents a bottle.

It has stood the test without a single accident for the past three years. It is so constructed that it can be put up plain and very cheap or it can be put up as a cresting, making a nice ornament to any building as well as protection.
